KERENSKY IS INVESTED WITH POWER OF DICTATOR

Premier Given Unlimited Control of Affairs; Frontiers of Russia Are Closed, by Edict

AUSTRIANS BATTER AT GATES OF CZERNOWITZ

Petrograd Quieter Under Rigid Rule; Many Executed; German Attack on Aisne Beaten

PARIS has been free from German raids since January, 1916. On the 25th of this month the capital was visited by Zeppelins which dropped about a dozen bombs, killing 24 persons and injuring about one minute and a half.

BERLIN, July 28.—German airplanes last night dropped bombs on the railway stations and military establishments in Paris. The official announcement of the German government says that the German army has returned.

Ex-Czar Falls From His Bicycle; Leg Is Broken

LONDON, July 28.—Nicholas Romanoff, ex-czar, recently fell from his bicycle in the Tsarskoe-Selo gardens and broke his leg, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Amsterdam today. It was declared that Russian newspapers had not been permitted to mention the accident.

Injustice to Mrs. Spalding Is Corrected

Our attention has been recently called to an article in the columns of this paper on the 30th of July, 1916, in which free use of the names of Mrs. A. G. Spalding of Point Loma, California, and Madame Tingley of the same place appeared. Subsequent investigation has convinced us that while the article referred to had previously been published in a journal of prominence in the East, which fact of itself caused THE TRIBUNE to publish it without question, the facts remain that it contained many misstatements which were then unknown to us, but were calculated to do an injustice to and to wound the feelings of Mrs. A. G. Spalding. Under these circumstances THE TRIBUNE deems it its manifest duty, as it has always done, to make whatever reparation justice may require. The TRIBUNE investigation fully satisfies it that Mrs. A. G. Spalding is an estimable lady of refinement, of irreproachable character, and blameless life, and that she is highly appreciated by all who know her, and deservedly so. While THE TRIBUNE regrets the painful incident above alluded to, it finds no little pleasure in correcting as far as may be the unintentional wrong done.

ADMITS SLAYING

NEW YORK, July 28.—Sucking away at an old pipe, Konrad Winslow, 23, son of a well-known Elizabeth, N. J., family, today calmly related to the police how he beat Frances Bradley to death with an iron inkstand in a room in the Hotel Rembrandt, according to a New York despatch.

NEW WAR TAXES

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The additional $7,000,000,000 in this year's war expenses probably will be met by imposing additional taxes of $2,000,000,000 and authorizing $5,000,000,000 in new war bonds, according to a tentative and informal decision today by the Senate finance committee. While every effort will be made to expedite revision of the war tax bill, committee members said their work might take most of next week.

FOOD BILL WAITS

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The prohibition and food administration questions involved in the food control bill were among those awaiting final disposition when the Senate House conferees resumed their labors today. Progress thus far made, however, warranted the belief that an agreement would be reached on those and all other points in dispute by tonight.

NO PRISON PLAN

BERLIN, July 26 (via London), July 28.—It is officially announced that the German government has informed that no negotiations are in progress with the United States for the purpose of transferring German prisoners from England to America.

Draft Age May Be Extended

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 28.—The United States draft may be broadened so as to include men reaching the minimum age of 21 before the next call to the colors.

Plan For 2,000,000 Men Abroad

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 28.—The War Department today corrected the impression that France was to manufacture all our heavy artillery. Baker said that it would be ordered there, but that the United States has no intention of ditching its own very good models or of stopping production here. In fact the War Department has an ambitious program of "fortifications" costing more than $2,000,000,000. This sum covers not only heavy artillery, but also a vast quantity of field artillery.

FIRE RAZES BIG POTTERY IN ALAMEDA

Clark Establishment on the Shore Line Suffers Loss of Over Half Million Dollars

Incendiarism Is Believed to Be Responsible for Start of Big Fire, Which Quickly Spreads

ALAMEDA, July 28.—One of the most spectacular fires ever seen in the bay district occurred at 10 o'clock this morning, on the Alameda shore line, when the pottery works of N. Clark & Son was destroyed by a fire believed to have been the work of I. W. W.s. Thirty six-foot pottery kilns, the molding plant, the boiler room, the mixing machinery and the entire equipment of the plant, which is said to be one of the most modern on the coast, were burned, with the exception of a few buildings at the lower end of the plant, and only desperate efforts by the fire department prevented a 200,000-gallon crude oil tank from exploding.

CANNERS ASK GOVERNMENT PROTECTION

Treason May Be Charged for Interference With Making of Foodstuffs for U. S.

More Than Half of San Jose Workers Offer to Return, and the Plants Will Open

With secret service agents of the United States Department of Justice investigating the causes underlying the cannery walk-outs, with a possibility that Federal warrants for treasonable conduct in interfering with government foodstuffs may follow, and a general disposition on the part of the strikers to return to work, conditions are today looked upon as more hopeful in the tense quarters of the State where riots and disturbances have been taking place.

Bullets Claim Women Fighters

Legion of Death Ranks Thin Win Right to Place in Line

LONDON, July 28.—Russia's women fighters in the "Legion of Death" suffered fifty casualties in their brilliant baptism of fire, according to a Reuter's despatch received here today. The roll included twenty killed and eight taken prisoner.

Second U. S. Benefit Ball

Contingent Halted; Police Lock Up Coin

While the Oakland authorities are waiting for Mrs. Alice Robie of 1329 Taylor street, San Francisco, to produce credentials for which she says she has called to Paris, the military band and the orchestra, which were to take place in the Hotel Oakland on August 10 for the benefit of the Reserve Officers' Training Camp at San Francisco and the California Ward of the American Hospital in Paris, is being held in abeyance.

STOP TRADE WITH ENEMY, URGES CECIL

LONDON, July 28.—Lord Robert Cecil, the minister of blockade, emphasized in an interview with the Associated Press today the vital importance to the Entente allies of stopping the trade in iron ore and wood pulp which the Scandinavian countries now are carrying on with Germany.

"You ask me to have a report of the United States is justified in threatening the Scandinavian countries with a stoppage of food supplies unless the ore trade is stopped.

"It certainly seems here that the United States very properly may ask Sweden whether she wants American products so much that she is willing to forego her profits on trade with Germany.

"Iron ore and wood pulp traffic between Scandinavia and Germany is so important that it is hard to over-estimate it. Our military and naval people tell me that without Swedish iron German munition factories would be in a very difficult position. Sweden is exporting directly to Germany the fundamental materials for shells to kill our soldiers and yours.

"It certainly would be a great mistake to neglect any step which might put a halt to a traffic which means, every iron of it, the loss of allied lives."

MERCHANT SHIPS USED.

Lord Robert said that about 5,500,000 tons of British merchant shipping now had been detailed to the navy and army, the allies and the dominions, while a further million tons were being used mainly on the outward journey and therefore were lost to the export trade.

"The services rendered by these ships are varied," said Lord Robert, "some of the speediest and most efficient of them have been converted into auxiliary cruisers and others into hospital ships. Many of them are engaged in taking coal and oil to the navy; others constantly are carrying troops or supplies to the army and navy; others are engaged in minesweeping and patrol work; others are assigned to our allies to supply urgent needs for munitions and other imports, and others are carrying wheat and other foodstuffs to our allies."

"From the beginning of the war the British ships have been requisitioned on a large scale by the government and run in national instead of private interest. The rates paid to shipowners have become much lower than could be earned by free ships, and British owners, therefore, were unable to earn the same freight as competitors. Now the situation has reached a stage at which it has been necessary to take complete control of the shipping, first, to ensure the employment of every vessel in the manner most consistent to the national interest, and, second, to divert from private pockets to the national treasury the high profits previously obtained."

DIRECTED BY NATION.

"First, the British government has requisitioned about 97 per cent of the ocean-going tonnage on the British register; second, all British liners have been requisitioned and are being run for government account; third, every ocean-going voyage of British steamers now is directed by the government with regard only to how it can obtain essential imports from the nearest source, disregarding the interests of shipowners and exporters alike; fourth, many trades built up in distant waters and sustained by British industry have been abandoned to neutrals, who gladly seek employment for their vessels in areas immune from war risks; fifth, coastal trade around the shores of Great Britain now is being subjected to a searching review for the purpose of withdrawing all vessels which can be utilized for ocean-going traffic."

"One effect of the requisitioning is seen in the fact that the current market value of neutral ships is double that of British ships."

"It also must be borne in mind that officers and crews of British merchant vessels have to run extraordinary risks in bringing necessary commodities hither. The areas around the British Isles have been singled out by the enemy for special attack, but notwithstanding the risk, the officers and men have never made any difficulties about taking their ships through the most dangerous routes."

PROBE HALTS WAR BENEFIT AFFAIR

Hence, this authority, she says, she will receive shortly by cable.

According to Mrs. Robie, the first came to Oakland about a week ago and explained her plans to the management of the Hotel Oakland, asking for the free use of the lobby and one of the dining rooms.

This was promised, and she then established headquarters in Room 227. She telephoned and wrote to leading society women and representative merchants, announcing the plans for the entertainment. She also received inquiries from the promoters of the affair as "ladies," declare the police.

NO CHARGE MADE.

The investigation by the police has at present gone no further than the questioning of Mrs. Robie. There have been no direct charges of irregularity made and no warrant has been asked or issued. The authorities are waiting for Mrs. Robie to produce her credentials, and until official sanction is proved the ball game entertainment will not be allowed.

Tickets for the entertainment were to be sold at one dollar each and table reservations for the cabaret at five dollars each. This did not include the cost of the dinner. The tickets were not numbered, say the police, and there was nothing on the circular letters sent out to indicate any official sanction.

Mrs. Robie was assisted by three San Francisco women who helped her with the correspondence and the solicitation of advertisements for the program and the sale of tickets.

RESUMES LECTURES.

The Sunday afternoon lectures at the Museum of Anthropology at the Affiliated College are to be resumed and the first series to be offered to the public is upon "Ancient Egypt." This will be given on tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock by Associate Curator E. W. Gifford. The lecture tomorrow will be "Quiries, the Resurrected."

Entente Leads in Third Year of War Two Crowns Fall; Three Nations Born

PARIS, July 28.—The military situation of the entente allies on the western front at the end of the third year of the war is regarded by competent authorities here as actually better than it was a year ago and enormously better prospectively by reason of the intervention of a part of France by the Germans. This retirement which was announced in Germany as a strategic retirement, made with the object of attaining a superior fighting position, has turned out to have been simply a retreat so that the German lines might be shortened and held by fewer divisions.

Wherever the lines have moved on the west they have moved toward Germany. The allies measure their success not by the ground gained, but by the fact that the Germans have had to endure shock after shock, and in doing so have lost.

The German reserves, in the belief of the French authorities, have diminished during the year by about 200,000 men, at an average rate of 100,000 a month. The German wastage during April, May and June is placed at upward of 150,000 a month, the casualties rising during May according to German admissions, to 170,000, not counting those slightly wounded who may be able to return to service.

DEEP CONCERN OVER RUSS.

The situation on the Russian front is a cause of deep concern, but it is not regarded here as possible for Germany to spare many more troops from the eastern front for action on the western front than already have been brought up, hence it is believed here that under the worst possible circumstances, the fighting power of Germany cannot be greatly increased on this front.

France and Great Britain count upon the American army to be in operation under more favorable circumstances than in any spring since the war began. The British army in France is delivering powerful blows which can be maintained indefinitely.

Meanwhile new enemy powers, notably the United States, have been drawn in by the Central empires and progress toward the achievement of the ultimate aim of the Entente has been furthered by political disturbances which will remain memorable in the history of all times.

Chief among these are the fall of two crowned heads—Nicholas of Russia and Constantine of Greece. In Russia autocracy has given way to a Republic. In Greece a kingdom remains but not a protectorate. The Entente has been furthered by political disturbances which will remain memorable in the history of all times.

Political events within the German and Austrian Empires, featured by the fall of Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg, have led to open discussion of peace in the German Reichstag as the fourth year dawned.

In Great Britain, the third year closed with Winston Spencer Churchill, former First Lord of the Admiralty, returned to the Cabinet with the portfolio of Minister of Munitions.

POWERS JOIN ENTENTE.

Portugal and Rumania threw in their fortunes with the Entente shortly after the third year began. Portugal, followed by Cuba and Liberia, Panama pledged the United States her aid in defending the Panama canal. Costa Rica, but her naval bases at her disposal. China, Bolivia, Guatemala and Brazil severed diplomatic relations with Germany. Uruguay expressed her sympathy for the United States.

Three new nations were born during the year. Poland was created a kingdom under German and Austrian direction. In Mecca the Arabians overthrew Turkish rule and declared independence. In the Balkans, liberty was restored to Albania, which was established as a republic under Italian political protection and with French military aid.

An estimate made two months before the end of the third year—voiced by Arthur Henderson, of the British war council—placed the number of men killed at 7,000,000 since August 1914. French general headquarters recently estimated 1,500,000 Germans had been killed up to March 1. Henderson estimated the total casualties at more than 4,000,000.

The first and second American contingents of troops landed in France on June 26 and 27. Nearly 10,000,000 Americans of military age registered on June 5 under the selective draft law and from these are being selected the great army contingents which America is planning to send to Europe.

MISSIONS EXCHANGED.

In commenting America's association with the nations now her allies, numerous exchanges of missions were arranged. France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Russia and other entente allies exchanged missions with the United States as a step toward unification, military, financial and otherwise. The United States sent missions to Russia and other countries.

During the third year of the war may roughly be divided into six phases—two in the latter part of 1916 before winter called a halt; and four after the entente offensive was resumed in the early spring.

At the close of the second year the Germans were still unwilling to concede failure in the operations centering on Verdun. After August 1, 1916, the French gained the ascendancy, culminating in the retaking of Douaumont and Fort Vaux, with thousands of prisoners and many guns. By November the French had once more come into possession of the complete circle of the Verdun defense.

The second phase dates back to the commencement of the first battle of the Somme—in July of 1916. By mid-September this had reached such proportions that the Germans were credited with bringing up seven new divisions against the British and five against the French. It was estimated that thirty-eight German divisions or, based on the strength of those German units at that period, about 560,000 men, opposed the British and French on this twenty-mile front. In this battle the British air superiority became dominant. By November the British and French had taken 200,000 German prisoners and had penetrated German positions for a depth of six miles.

GERMANS RETREAT. In the ensuing northeastern anti-entente offensive, a resumption of the Somme operations, began what has become known as "Hindenburg's victorious retreat" to newly-established German lines. In this second battle of the Somme, Bapaume, Ipres, Peronne, Nesle, Fayette, Gricourt, Vaux, Roye, Tergnier, Ham and hundreds of other positions were lost by the Germans. In the evacuation of the Somme, the Germans left a track of wide-spread devastation which aroused world-wide indignation. The British claimed capture of 100,000 prisoners in the three months of this German retreat for a depth of from 5 to 15 miles along a front of about 46 miles.

In April the British transferred their offensive to the Arras, forcing von Hindenburg to redistribute his forces along a fifteen-mile front. Canadians played a historic part in this fighting. In May the British captured Vimy Ridge, one of the world's bloodiest battles. Canadians held the ridge against desperate counter-attacks. This success east of Arras turned the German northern pivot, and British forces regarded it as the greatest in the history of British arms in the present war. This offensive, continued, placed the British astride the Hindenburg line, and the Germans retired to positions a mile or two west of the Drocourt-Queant line. These they held as the third year closed.

Meanwhile the British campaign and the Alsace have been carried on by the French, who in April captured Auberive. In the first days of Champagne offensive, one of the greatest struggles of the war, the Germans sustained an estimated loss of 100,000 killed, wounded and taken prisoners through their desperate defensive operations. Fighting in these regions continues after three months, during which the French have advanced from one to five miles along a fifty-mile front. The present French line runs from northwest of Soissons, through Rheims to Auberive.

BRITISH ADVANCE.

The British advance began in an attack on Messines and Wycheate in an effort to straighten out the Ypres salient. Again British flyers dominated the air. The British had spent an entire year mining the earth for this offensive, which was begun with an explosion so terrific that it was heard in London. Beyond Messines, for two miles east and northeast the British won and consolidated their position. More than 7,400 prisoners and great stores of artillery. Gaining every objective, they placed themselves astride the Ypres-Comines Canal, having destroyed three miles on an eight-mile front. Portuguese and Belgian troops aided in this offensive. In recent days the fighting there had been confined to raiding operations.

It is estimated that during April, May and June the Germans suffered 350,000 casualties on the western front.

The Russians, having in June of 1916 begun the war known as the Pripiet Marshes to the Rumanian frontier, speedily captured Czernowitz and the rest of Bukovina, together with Brody in Galicia, and in August they entered Stanislaw for the third time in the war. These operations forced the Austro-Germans to relinquish lines they had held throughout the winter of 1915-1916.

The Italian bridgehead fell in September, but the subsequent advance on Lemberg was not prosecuted because the plight of Rumania demanded the transfer of Russian troops to aid their Balkan ally.

After the Russian revolution, the Russians made a feint to advance on Pinsk, to cover the actual operations resumed in July against Lemberg. This latter front, beginning in the war known as "Regiment July First," these troops, reinvigorated by the consciousness of political liberty, confounded German military prophets by the magnitude and extent of their offensive.

RUSSIANS BROADEN WORK.

Lead by Alexander Kerensky, Minister of War, and observed by Minister of War officers, the "Regiments July First" forced the Germans to evacuate Brzezany, and they captured many important positions, including the town of Stanislaw. On July 11 Halicz was taken, thus smashing the Austro-German front between Brzezany and the Carpathians.

This Russian operation broadened by mid-July, so that it extended from the Gulf of Riga to the Rumanian front, a distance of 800 miles. The Germans were reported to be rushing troops from the Italian and French fronts. Widespread enthusiasm was created throughout Russia and the moral effect on the other Entente powers was tremendous.

During the third year, however, Russia's offensive collapsed. German spies, anarchists, peace fanatics and other agitators succeeded in destroying the morale of some of the Russian troops in Galicia, where a retreat became necessary, which unit after unit refused to obey orders. Brzezany, Halicz, Tarnopol, Stryz, Jan and Kholmow were lost, together with all the remaining ground gained during the offensive. The Russians surrendered many prisoners, heavy guns and an abundance of supplies and ammunition. The death penalty was inflicted on check to further insubordinations and the provisional government introduced a policy of "blood and iron" in an effort to avert disaster.

South of the Carpathians and in the Vojna region there was little disaffection among the Russian troops. Italy, declaring war against

ITALY ON OFFENSIVE.

After a winter of artillery duels, Italy resumed her offensive on the Carso front in the campaign toward Trieste. Within a month the Austrian lines were broken from Castanvizza to the sea. Italy inflicted losses of $5,000 on the Austrians and lost heavily herself. Austria hurried reinforcements from the Russian front.

In the Trentino the Italians took the offensive in June and after terrific fighting captured the Austrian positions on Monte Ortigara and Agnello pass. These were the last of the Italian successes, however, in the face of Austrian counter-attacks.

In the Balkans the year's military development saw the occupation of Rumania by the Teutons, a gain of great economic value because of the oil and grain fields. The Rumanian army, re-formed, is co-operating with the Russians, and as the year closed they were engaged in a heavy offensive against the Austro-Germans, Turks and Bulgarians.

Bulgaria won successes of moderate importance, including the capture of the Grecian port of Kavala.

A newly-equipped Serbian army arrived at Saloniki in August and began an offensive which won Ostrovo, on the road to Monastir. This offensive, resumed in the spring with the co-operation of Entente and Venizelist troops, won Monastir and Cerna.

In Greece the military moves of the Entente forces included a blockade of Greece and temporary French occupation of Athens.

TURKS ARE ROUTED. A brilliant British campaign in Mesopotamia accomplished the capture of Kut-el-Amara in February, and of Bagdad, terminus of the Berlin-to-Bagdad railway, in March. The capture of Bagdad had a deep moral effect in the Orient, particularly in Arabia, where many natives revolted from Turkish rule.

Russians operating in Persia took Hamadan; and further north, captured Isfahan.

In the Holy Land the British opened a new era in the history of the East. Their advance carried them nearly to Gaza. Their objective, Jerusalem, which the Turks were reported in June to have partly evacuated. Except for submarine operations, naval writers have found little to engage their attention during the past year.

Germany continued to rely on U-boats. This policy led to unrestricted warfare which drew the United States into the conflict. The U-boats destroyed an estimated gross tonnage of more than 4,000,000 during the year. This included 2,000,000 flying the British flag sunk from February 25 to July 1.

American's destroyer flotilla arrived in British waters in May. Without the loss of a ship or a man, American warships convoyed the first American troops to France. Two submarine attacks were made on the transports. At least one U-boat was sunk. American warships took over from British and French vessels the patrol of American coasts. Brazil added her navy to ours in South American waters.

From Bagdad London have been subjected to raids, notable attacks being those by German Zeppelins and airplanes on London. In four attacks on England in May, June, and July, 282 persons were killed and $37 injured.

SWITCHMEN STRIKE TRAFFIC TIED UP

could not, under the proposed rules, re-enter the service without the consent of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen committee. For obvious reasons, this consent might be difficult to obtain.

James Murdock, vice-president of the brotherhood, who is in charge of the strike, said the reasons assigned by the railroad officials for the strike were absolutely false and on a par with many other statements coming from that source.

"The strike results from the failure of the roads to concede certain reasonable rules affecting working conditions," Murdock explained. "The railroad have proposed mediation by the federal mediation and conciliation board."

The number of switchmen employed in Chicago terminals is 6500. Of these, 3500 belong to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and 3000 to the Switchmen's Union of North America. The remaining 1500 are not organized.

SITUATION GOOD.

An authorized statement for the railroads, issued this afternoon, says: "The railway managements are much gratified with the situation and the outlook. It is most unusual for a large percentage of operation to be conducted the first day of a strike."

"Passenger service is not affected, all reports received showing that it is being maintained at 100 per cent. "Government business and perishable freight are being handled in good shape."

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Commissioner William L. Chambers of the board of mediation and conciliation was keeping in close touch with the situation in Chicago through Assistant Commissioner G. W. A. Hangar.

Government officials looked upon the strike with some uneasiness in view of its probable effect in delaying important war shipments.

SEATTLE, July 28.—Striking street car men of Seattle and Tacoma are voting today whether to accept or reject peace proposals submitted last night by officials of the Puget Sound Traction, Light and Power Company, with a view to ending the strike that has tied up street car traffic in Seattle and Tacoma for nearly two weeks.

Leaders among the union car men today expressed the opinion that the peace terms proposed by the traction company would not be accepted.

Replying to the demand of the strikers that discharged employees here and in Tacoma be reinstated, the traction company offered to submit the question of reinstatement of the seven discharged Tacoma employees to a board composed of five former street car employees to be selected by the union.

Regarding two men discharged in Seattle, the company offered to re-employ one man and to take the other one back as soon as there was work for him to do in his department.

All questions of wages or hours of labor the company proposes to settle by arbitration. After stating these peace terms the company added to its statement that the concessions named are made with the distinct understanding that the company will not recognize the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America or any union affiliated with that body.

TO THE PEOPLE OF OAKLAND:

The time has arrived when the people of Oakland ought to understand that citizens appearing before the City Council do not receive the treatment to which they are entitled.

Within the last few weeks hundreds of men and women have appeared to address the members of the City Council, in open meeting, but they were curtly and rudely told to sit down. In one instance a lady was insulted because she dared to ask permission to speak in regard to the garbage muddle now existing in our city.

It is a matter of common knowledge that hundreds of complaints are daily telephoned or written into the city health department regarding the new scheme of garbage collection. People are, in many instances, burying their garbage. If every person who has a complaint was to let the City Officials know, it would run into the thousands.

The people of our city ought to know the facts in connection with the garbage situation. Not being allowed to address the City Council, it is mandatory to resort to this method of informing the people.

This is a people's government and the sooner our City Fathers understand this the better it will be for all concerned. No person, be he Mayor or otherwise, has a right to hurt and humiliate the feelings of taxpayers who appear before the Council. If the principle of freedom of speech means anything it certainly carries with it the right to be heard in such a forum as the City Council. When the time has arrived whereby good men and women are to be shut off and forced to sit in silence, while the health of the people is imperiled, then indeed is our so-called scheme of democracy a farce and a failure. Autocracy is the thing being fought all over the civilized world today and it is but right and fitting that in Oakland our City Fathers should practice it.

The garbage situation is very serious and a menace to the health and welfare of our city. The City Health Officer has asked that the new garbage collector's contract be revoked on the grounds of failure to collect the garbage to his satisfaction. This is one of the conditions of the contract which must be fulfilled. The new collector has failed to perform his part of the contract on the one hand, although the people of Oakland, through their Council, have kept every condition of the agreement and even aided the new concern in many ways. Notwithstanding all of this; in face of all the bona fide complaints, even though the people are suffering, the Council has not alone failed to act, but in addition thereto even refuses to hear respectable men and women who appear before it.

According to the original bid, of a certain man to whom the contract for garbage collection was awarded, the City Sanitary Reduction Company, which was incorporated on the 23rd of July, 1917, seems to be the real party in interest and not the man to whom the contract was let. The bid referred to also contained a statement, under oath, that the bid was "genuine and not made in the interest or behalf of any person not therein named." Was the City Sanitary Reduction Company named in the bid? No. The name was that of H. F. La Voie, an individual whose residence is in San Francisco. The whole thing is quite interesting to say the least.

How much longer are the people to suffer? This is a people's affair and as such the City Council should act at once and do something to relieve the situation.

The old men gave the city satisfaction and the new collectors do not. The new collectors have failed to fulfill their part of the contract and the city is morally bound to revoke it. The Council is supposed to act for the people and if the proposition was put up to the people for collection, they would overwhelmingly vote to revoke the contract.

It is to be hoped that the City Council will heed the voice of the public and will grant everyone a right to be heard. The people do not feel that it is necessary to have a uniformed policeman sitting in the Council Chambers and jump up and make people sit down just because they dare to ask their servants an opportunity to address them. The whole thing savors of despotism and autocracy of the worst type.

The people should keep right on complaining about the bad manner in which garbage is being collected, irrespective of what the City Council thinks. Let them understand that this is a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

Respectfully, OAKLAND LEAGUE FOR CIVIC DEMOCRACY.

MOTHER OF BABY BOLLINGER DIES OF HEART BREAK

CHICAGO, July 28.—The death of baby Bollinger, the hopelessly deformed infant whose life a physician refused to save in November, 1915, is believed to have been responsible for the death yesterday of Mrs. Anna Bollinger, the baby's mother.

"After the baby's death," said Allen Bollinger, "my wife fell into a settled melancholy and wasted away. If ever a woman died of a broken heart, she did."

The baby Bollinger case attracted attention throughout the country. The physician used to say that if the child's life had been prolonged by an operation it would probably have been an imbecile and so crippled by physical defects as to have been a burden to itself and others.

DR. DAY TO TALK. BERKELEY, July 28.—Dr. Jonathan C. Day, of labor temple, New York city, will preach tomorrow at St. John's Presbyterian church, Berkeley, using as his text in the morning "Wailing, Without Losing One's Soul," and in the evening, "Meeting the Challenge of the New Day."

WAIT EXEMPTIONS OF SHIP WORKERS

Local shipbuilders and their employing concerns are anxiously awaiting the decision of President Wilson on the exemption of persons employed in vessel construction from military service under the recent draft. His ruling will settle the fate of several thousand men in industry.

Request for Federal action has been made by the Moore and Scott interests. It is contended that a drafting of the shipbuilders would be almost the entire industry of the coast, and affect Federal contracts. The serious phase of the matter lies not in the actual drafting, but in the fact that many men subject to draft are joining the regular army in order to make their selections of service, in preference to the draft service.

This condition has resulted in groups of skilled workmen, who cannot be replaced without years of training, being taken from important work. The granting of Federal exemption by the President under power already conferred would work a halt in this wholesale loss of workmen. It is estimated that approximately 6 per cent of the workmen on the coast in different shipyards are affected by the draft.

Word of a purposed tie-up of all working trades connected with the shipbuilding industry at the instigation of Charles F. Scott of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Shipbuilders and Helpers of America, which reached this city from Philadelphia, has been denied by Scott in an open statement.

"It is absurd on its face," he said today. "The officials of the shipyards with whom I have been dealing the past fifteen months know and would gladly testify that my attitude has always been foreign to a policy that would tend to hamper this work of the government or in any way jeopardize our success in the world war. Even if I favored such a step personally I would not have the authority."

CONTRALTO GIVES FAREWELL RECITAL

A tribute of appreciation for an Oakland artist who has always been generous with her gift of song was paid last night in the Auditorium theater, when a large audience composed of society leaders, musicians, music-lovers and teachers gave their God-speed at a farewell benefit recital to Miss Lucy May van de Mark, who plans to leave shortly for the East for a sojourn of six months in New York. It was an audience enthusiastic in mood and spontaneous in the expression of enjoyment, and the recital was one of the most successful ever given in the city.

interesting, showing the talent of the popular vocalists both as a lyric and dramatic artist. Her power of dramatic impersonation was admirably shown in the effective aria, "Adieu, forests," from Tchaikovsky's "Jeanne d'Arc." The lyric numbers included songs by such representative modern composers as Sibelius, Rachmaninov, Sjogren and Hovman, and a charming composition by

To every woman, even the least lovely, her hour of beauty—it had not entered the mind of that woman to think that beautiful until that moment. Of her exalted charm, of the allure of her sensitive, wilful prettiness, he had been well aware, even as he had been unable to deny to himself that he was all for her, that he loved her with all the strength that was his; but not till now had he understood that she was the one woman whose lovelessness to him would dim the beauty of all other women.

And for a little while he held her hand tremulous upon his finger-tips, as though he feared to bruise it with rude contact, he could not take his eyes from her.

Ten reverently he bowed his head and touched his lips to that hand—and felt it smothered quickly away, and started back, afraid, the evil roughly dispossessed, the castle of his dreams tumbling in thunders round his ears.

In the studio skylight overhead a pane of glass had fallen in with a shattering crash as ominous as the tramp of doom.

CHAPTER XIV

"For That's Impossible"

Take a blow from an unseen hand the shock of that alarm drove the girl back from the table to the nearest wall for a moment held her there transfixed in panic.

To her wide, staring eyes that questioned his so urgent a reassurance. He hadn't stirred after his first involuntary start, and before the last fragment of splintered glass had fallen thinking to the floor above, he was carrying her in the most matter-of-fact tones she ever heard.

"Don't be alarmed," he said. "It's nothing—merely Sion's skylight came smother."

"But you call that nothing?" she cried, gushily. "What caused it, then?"

"My negligence," he admitted gloomily. "I might have known it—that vile spread of glass, with the studio electric lights blazing below, would give the show away completely. The house is known to be unoccupied, and it wasn't to be expected that both the police and Popinot's crew would overlook so shining a mark."

And it's all my fault, my oversight. I should have warned you about the lights' High time I'm getting going, I've no longer the wit to play the rules."

"But the police would never—"

"Certainly not. This is merely Popinot's job method of informing us he's on the job. But I'll just have a look to make sure you're where you are, please."

"I'd rather go alone."

He swung alertly through the reception-hall window, pausing there only long enough for an instantaneous reconnaissance through the draperies—a furtive survey that discovered the impasse Stanislas no more abandoned to the wind and rain, but tenanted visibly by one, at least, who lounged beneath the lonely lamp-post, a shoulder against it—a featureless, shadowy silhouette with attention fixed on the little house.

But Lanyard didn't doubt that this one had a dozen fellows skulking within call. Springing up the stairs, he paused prudently at the topmost step, one quick glance showing him the huge rent gaping black in the middle of the skylight, the second the missile of destruction lying amid a litter of broken glass—a brick wrapped in newspaper by the look of it.

Seemingly forward, he retraced this and turned back from the exposed space beneath the shattered skylight barely in the nick of time for he had no more than cleared the threshold than a second something fell through the gap and landed on his head. This last was a bullet fired from the roof of one of the adjoining buildings, confirming his prior reasoning that the first missile must have fallen from a height rather than have been thrown up from the street to break through the skylight.

Sweating softly to himself, he descended to the kitchen.

"As I thought," he said coolly, exhibiting his find. "There on the roof of the little house—though they've stationed a sentry in the street, of course."

"But that second thump—" the girl demanded.

They are to be distributed over the lines of the companies about noon every Saturday and will tell the coming week's weather and temperature.

Society

Summer is a lovely season. To possess a beautiful estate in the region of Shasta is a dream realized. To desire to extend its hospitality to friends and happy groups is commendable. To be those friends is a privilege. But there is a long road to the privilege of extending the invitation for a house party and its joyful materialization. Dr. James A. Black and Mrs. Black on their side and Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld, Mrs. Nicholas, Miss Carrie Nicholson, Miss Kittybell Long on the other side know it.

It is the Blacks who have the beautiful estate in the north. It was Mrs. Rosenfeld and the Nicholsons with the young miss who received the invitation. They accepted and started gaily by motor as soon as the delightful summons came for the late July days. The road was long and winding and picturesque. They had never before, at night, arrived in the midst of a deep and dark and dense forest. They were lost in the woods. Between them and starvation was one small can of deviled ham—nothing more. In dismay they dispatched the driver and the machine back some twenty miles to a sheep camp which they had passed earlier in the afternoon. They endeavored to be cheerful. Flocks of sheep with their herders sent late in the night through the twilight but neither sheep nor shepherd gave them heed nor succor. Dusk-covered the man returned from his long drive with the comforting news that miles back they had left the main road to travel an old lava path. But night was falling and they laid down on uncomfortable lava and the sharp stones and tried to possess their souls in peace and their famished bodies in patience until the dawn should come.

And all declared for home. And that is the true story of why the Blacks this summer did not welcome Mrs. Rosenfeld and the Nicholsons as their guests at a congenial house party. Mrs. Rosenfeld is offering hospitality at her handsome summer place at Woodside.

Leland Church Stearns is one of the clever Oakland men to whom has come signal honors in being chosen as president of the National Aeronautics Committee on Aeronautics. His appointment came by wire this week with orders to report immediately in Washington, D. C. With his attractive young wife, the former Miss Laura V. Stearns, he left yesterday to assume his new position.

Stearns is a graduate of Stanford where he proved his ability in all phases of the subjects pertaining to the science of air control and it is in recognition of his work that he has been named so important post. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stearns of this city and a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity. His marriage with the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Van Buren was one of the most recent events of the earlier year. She was a popular University of California girl and a member of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

An informal telephone tea was arranged by Mrs. Stearns for Thursday afternoon at her home. She invited several of her friends and a number of friends that she might formally take leave of them.

Although for a time Stearns will be stationed in Washington it is quite likely that before his orders will take him to another post.

Not a day passes but brings some new plan for the "War-time Evening of Songs" which is announced for Tuesday evening, August 14, by the finance committee of the Alameda County woman's committee of the National and State Councils of Defense. Who can resist those old classics of battle fields when men in song kept up their splendid courage? The Star Spangled Banner, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "Tenting, Tonight," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," "Columbia" and all the rest of them?

This is the program with as many more to touch the hearts of the feet to marching. Mrs. Edwin Garthwaite has made herself responsible for the program and has the close cooperation of her nephew, Lowell Redfield, who will be among the soloists. Mrs. Garthwaite and Mrs. A. D. Thomson are in charge of the tickets, while a coterie of clever young artists are organizing the several posters. Miss Mollie Connors is chairman of the committee under whose auspices the concert is being given that the Alameda County woman's committee may have some funds with which to promote its several campaigns.

Among others who have lent their names to the already long list of patrons and patronesses are: Mrs.

Phoebe Hearst, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Crocker, General Oscar F. Long, and Mrs. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lowry, Mrs. Lillian Brown Everts, Miss Florence Brown, Judge T. W. Harris and Mrs. Harris, Judge E. S. Wells and Mrs. Wells, Miss Emma Gross, Mr. Minora Kibbe, Miss Mabel Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Vandegrift, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hanes, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Whitworth, Mr. and Mrs. Arledge, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rosenbaum.

Mrs. Frederick Thurston Robson left this week for Portland where she will remain for the coming fortnight that she may be near her husband who is completing the three months' intensive training for officers at the Vancouver barracks. They will return to Berkeley together where Robson will remain awaiting his final orders from Washington. Mrs. Robson is president of the mobilized women's organization of Berkeley which has been carrying on so noteworthy a war service this summer. Her cousin, Mrs. Robert Parker, came down from her Seattle home to spend a part of the late July at Hotel Shattuck where she has been the guest of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Woolsey. In her honor there was arranged a series of interesting short motor trips. The home of Mrs. Parker's father, one of the show places of Rammer Park. She returned north today.

ANOTHER ADVENTURE OF Uncle Wiggily

By Howard Garis

"I am sorry to trouble you, Uncle Wiggily," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzey, the muskrat lady, one morning, as she sat where the bunny rabbit gentleman was sitting on the porch of his hollow stump bungalow, "but I would like you."

"No trouble at all, I do assure you," said Uncle Wiggily quickly. "I'll do anything you ask."

"Better wait and hear what I am going to ask," said Nurse Fuzzy Wuzzey. "I tied her tail in a double bowknot so she would not step on it while she was washing the dishes. I fear you will not want to do me this favor."

"Just name it and see if I won't," laughed the bunny.

"Well, then, I'd like you to go to the five-and-six-cent store for me and get a paper of needles," said Nurse Jane.

"I can't do that without a needle. Now are you sorry you promised before you knew what I was going to ask?"

Uncle Wiggily made a funny face and wrinkled up his pink, twinkling nose so that it looked like a squeezed rubber ball playing jack-in-the-box.

"Never mind whether I like it or not," he said. "I'll go there for you, Nurse Jane," and then, brave rabbit gentleman that he was, he started Uncle Wiggily for the five-and-six-cent store to get the needles for Nurse Jane. She could not go herself, as she had the bungalow work to do.

"But if there is one thing worse than another that I do not like to do, it is to go to the five-and-six-cent store where so many little mouse girls wait on you," thought Uncle Wiggily. "They look at me like I'm a piece of old, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, at my long ears and pink, twinkling nose, and then they giggle. I do not like giggling mouse girls, though other girls are very nice."

"Still a promise is a promise, so I must go and get Nurse Jane's needles. Guess I'll put on my glasses, so I'll look old and dignified like, and then maybe they won't giggle."

So Uncle Wiggily, trying to look very sedate, and like a school teacher giving his class an examination in how to make his fingers keep from sliding off the multiplication table, went to the five-and-six-cent store.

And, surely enough, the mouse girls were all staring at him. He asked for a paper of pins at first, and a newspaper secondly, and then, when a mouse girl cried "Ouch!" when a kitten's paw made believe scratch her with her claws, he did the rabbit gentleman think of what he wanted—needles.

When the mouse girl cried "Ouch!" it reminded him of some one sneaking a Thorn in a lot of balloons, and that's how he remembered needles.

His ears grew very red and his pink nose twinkled very fast when he was asked to get needles. He was a little bit shy, but he was a brave bunny, and he went to the five-and-six-cent store.

"But I'm glad to get out of that!" thought the bunny. "It's worse than going to the dentist's."

Through the woods and over the fields he hopped, and he was not far from the low stump bungalow, and he had not gone very far before he heard a voice crying—

"Oh, dear! Such trouble as I'm in! Oh, will you one help me?"

"Ha! Of course, I'll help you!" cried Uncle Wiggily, in his most jovial voice. "I'll trouble, eh? That's what I like to help folks out of it."

With that he looked around and saw a beautiful butterfly caught in some sticky gum on a pine tree.

The poor butterfly was fluttering her wings, trying to get loose, but her legs were caught in the sticky stuff.

"There you are!" cried Uncle Wiggily, with one of the needles from the five-and-six-cent store. "I'll give you a little help, and you'll be free."

"Some day I hope I may help you, Thank you!" And she flew away before the bunny could say it all matter, that the pleasure was all his, or something like that.

Well, Uncle Wiggily went on and on, and he was not far from the low stump bungalow, and he was wondering what Nurse Jane would have for dinner—carrot short cake, maybe, or some other nice thing.

Uncle Wiggily was wondering why it was that his socks were into holes and where the holes were. He was a little bit shy, but he was a brave bunny, and he went to the five-and-six-cent store.

"All of a sudden, as he put his hand in his pocket, he cried—

"Oh, goodness me, snakes alive, and some horse radish ice cream! I've lost the paper of needles!"

He looked in all his pockets, and even in his tail silk hat, but it was of no use—the needles were gone!

"I must have dropped them by the pine tree where I had to stop to help the poor butterfly," thought the bunny uncle.

"Well, I must go right back and look. Nurse Jane wants those needles very much."

So back he hopped to a pine tree, but the paper of needles was not there.

"Oh, this is too bad!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "It is quite too bad!"

"What is it?" asked a voice, and it was the pine tree speaking.

"I have lost Nurse Jane's paper of needles," said the bunny uncle. "I had them here when I was helping poor butterfly, and now they're gone. I just can't bear to go back to the five and six-cent store with the giggling mouse girl clerks and yet—"

"There is no need to," said the pine tree. "I have more needles than I can ever use. Take as many as you like. I saw how kind you were to the butterfly, who was caught in my sticky gum, though it was not my fault. Now I will do a kindness to you."

Then the pine tree shook down a lot of pine needles, and when Uncle Wiggily took them home Nurse Jane said they were the best she ever had. So the bunny did not have to go back to the store to be giggled at.

NORTHLIFFE MILL HIKERS TO CLIMB MT. JEFFERSON TO SUPPLY PAPER

NEW YORK, July 28.—The Editor and Publisher printed today an announcement by the paper committee of the American Newspaper Guild, Inc., that it had entered through a contract made by the committee with Lord Northcliffe's New Foundland mill, 80,000 tons of news print annually will be available without contract for small newspaper publishers in the United States and others who have been paying high prices for their print paper requirements.

The entire output of the Northcliffe mill will be available, as well as the output of the Albert B. Reed mill, near the Northcliffe plant, which makes 100 tons of ground wood daily.

"This paper will be sold in carload lots at rates less than the prevailing market quotations," the paper committee says, "and publishers who take larger quantities will get it for less than $3 a hundred pounds, of course, the exact price having not yet been set. It will be sold for cash in advance.

The financing for this arrangement was made possible through the generosity of a number of large publishers. The smaller publishers now may get their requirements by communicating with A. G. McIntire, special representative of the paper committee in this city.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 28.—Snow-tipped Mount Jefferson, often called the Matterhorn of Oregon, which rears its summit above the Cascade mountains eighty miles southeast of Portland, will be the goal of the Portland Mazamas, a mountaineering organization, when it takes its annual outing August 4 to 19.

Mountaineers from several parts of Oregon are coming to Portland to go with the Mazamas, which is considered in the forefront of mountaineering organizations of the nation. Headquarters on the outing will be in a camp established at Pamela Lake, at the southwest base of the mountain.

Resembling the Alps in its ruggedness, the tip of Mount Jefferson is considered by no means an easy place to reach. Although the body of the mountain is not difficult of ascent, it is capped by a rocky pinnacle several hundred feet high which is so steep that mountaineers of Alpine experience have declared they were forced to put forth their best efforts to reach the top.

All around Mount Jefferson are high plateaus, ranges and parks, according to pleasure for mountaineers, geologists, fishermen, swimmers and vacationists. Jefferson is 10,532 feet high.

However, the Mazamas delight in rough country. They were organized on the summit of Mount Hood July 19, 1884, and took their name from the "Mazama," a mountain goat which makes its home high up among the pinnacles and glaciers of the Cordilleran range of western America.

Membership in the Mazamas is limited to persons who have climbed to the summit of a snow peak on which there is a living glacier and whose top cannot be reached by any other means but on foot. No other mountaineering club in the nation has this restriction, it is believed, and as a result the membership of the Mazamas is limited. They do not limit their trips to members, however, for all can invite friends.

AID NEEDED YET

NEW YORK, July 28.—The American monthly loan of $750,000 to Belgium which commenced June 1 has only been made to the Belgian government to replace loans formerly made to England and France, according to a statement here today by Louis de Sadeleir, a member of the special Belgian mission now in this country.

"This loan merely enables the commission for relief to purchase and ship food supplies to Belgium," the statement reads. "This is the sole object of America's intervention."

"But there has been created and widely circulated in this country and even abroad an erroneous impression, that owing to this intervention, no more aid and no more donations are needed for distressed Belgium."

DRAFT WILL TAKE BEST AMERICAN LEAGUERS

CHICAGO, July 23.—There is likely to be no world's series this year as a result of the drain on major league baseball players by the draft. B. E. Johnson, president of the American League, said here today that the military service now being held by players shows that probably twenty-five men will be taken from the American League and the National League will not play the series if it is hampered by that serious a loss, Johnson said.

The league president also stated that he had learned that the military drafting installed by the league early in the season would be extended to the military service agreement to extend exemptions to ball players until the end of the season. His indication that the military service exemption for ball players would be drafted to the colors about September 1.

Johnson said that the American League president in New York, urging the players not to claim exemptions, gave rise to suggestions by baseball experts here that the military service exemption would be extended to the major leagues many men were playing in the minor leagues who once were in the major leagues but are now past the age of the draft.

The American Association has such members as Utzler, Brown, Leach, Lelivelt, McQuillan, Cramer, and others. The Western League has Lowmearnik. The Western League has O'Toole, Devore, Hartzell, McCormick and many others who were nationally known in many years ago.

The second division clubs and the smaller leagues will suffer more from the draft. It was pointed out, than the big leagues, owing to the larger percentage of college men in the first division clubs. The younger players will be drafted out. In the small clubs and the second division will show a larger percentage taken by the draft than others.

Johnson sincerely hopes that ball players in both the minor and major leagues who have been drafted will go to the colors without claiming exemption," Johnson said.
